For Further Study

(Please use on your own, with a friend, or in your small group.)

1. Go back to Pastor Mark's opening question in the sermon: who is God? What is your answer and why do you say that God is (whoever it is you say He is). What passages in the Bible support your ideas about who God is? Write these down, and meditate on them.
2. Spend some time today or tonight in quiet prayer, just thanking God for who He is. Remember, the Seraphim and four living creatures are always and continually worshipping God. The song of Revelation 15.3-4 is a worship song. Let's join with the other creatures in singing out praise to our Lord!

Do this first, before you do the following...

3. Get together with a Christian friend or spend time in your small group talking to one another about the holiness of God. How do you define "holy"? Do you have other Bible passages that describe God's holiness besides the ones Pastor Mark talked about? If so, share those. Read them together. And worship God together with those Bible verses.

Share what you are learning with a friend and pray for one another.
